

How much does it cost?

This depends on what exactly you want done. Email me via my CONNECT page or the "Request a Quote" link and we'll discuss the scope of your project and budget. In order for me to get started, I do require half the deposit up front via PayPal or Venmo. The remainder is due before I send you the final files. Keep in mind I offer bulk rates!

How long will it take?

It depends on how booked I am when you contact me, but I can usually deliver a drum track within a day or two of receiving your guide track and initial deposit.

What should my guide track be like?

It can be as produced as you'd like. I just need a clear sense of the overall vibe and structure. All I require is the BPM and that everything's lined up to a click.

How should I communicate how I want the drums to sound?

If you have programmed drums on your music, send a version of your guide track with them included. It's also helpful to have a list of songs that have drum sounds and/or grooves similar to what you want.

How will I be able to 'produce' the tracks?

I encourage as much production input as possible! Once I have a clear indication of what you want the drums to sound like, along with some programmed drums or examples of grooves and feels from other songs, I just go for it. Then I send you an mp3 of my drums along with the guide track, and you tell me if it's right or completely wrong or what you want changed. Then I do another take and send that mp3, and the process continues until the take is perfect.

What file format do you use?

WAV files at 24bit, 48k, but I'm happy to do whatever you'd prefer.

How will you deliver the tracks?

I normally upload them to Dropbox and send you the download link.

What will the tracks sound like?

This depends on what you're going for. Some things to consider: Kick drum: big and boomy or tight and controlled? Snare drum: dead and punchy or ringy and piercing? Toms: wide open and resonant or more muffled? Cymbals: bright, modern sound or warm and washy?
